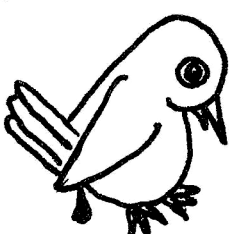
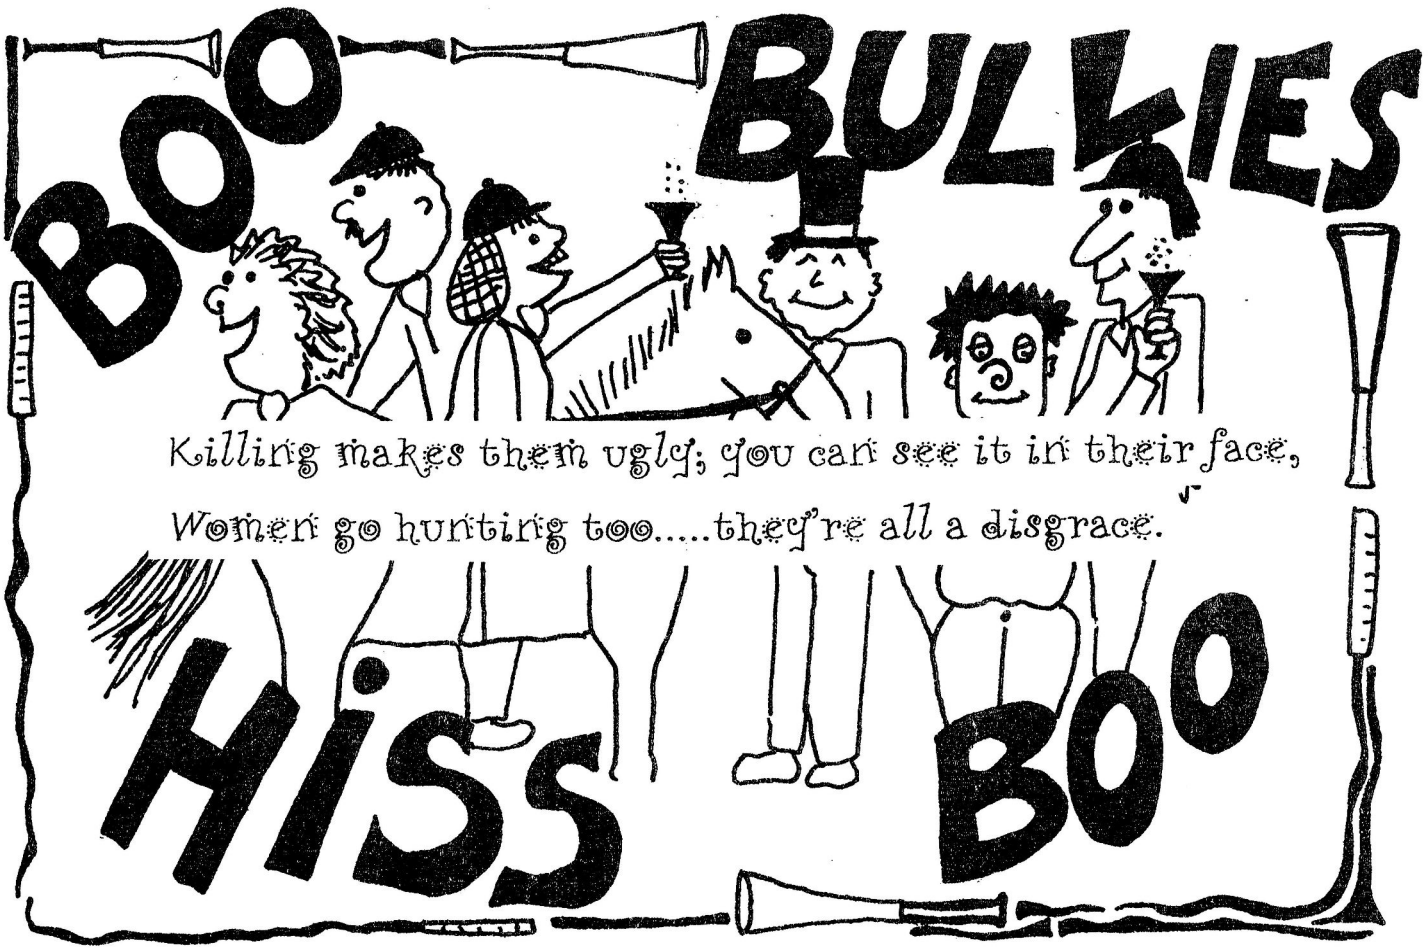
"WHEN WE ARM KIDS WITH THE TRUTH THEY CANNOT LOSE"

Look, it's the hunt eating their posh spread,
Thinking of the killing in the day ahead.
Wearing all their finest, best hat, best coat, best shoe,
As if the very sight of it will hide what they're gonna do.

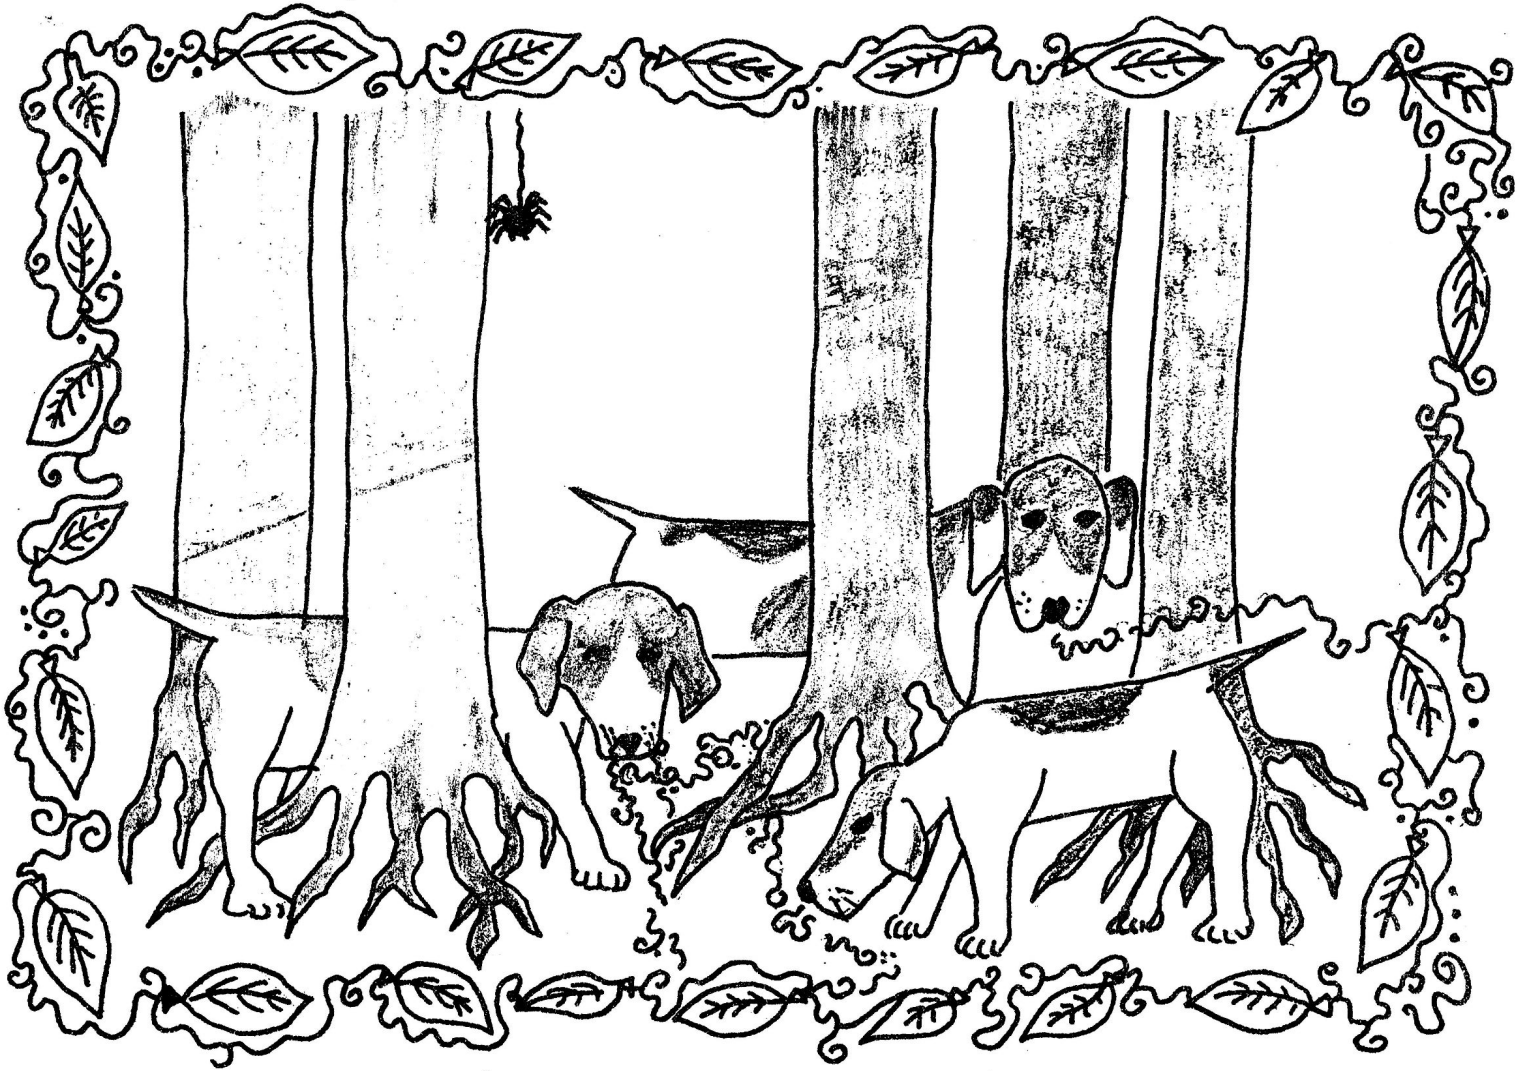
Killing a small animal is enough to make them drool,
Just like the awful bullies who push kids around at school.

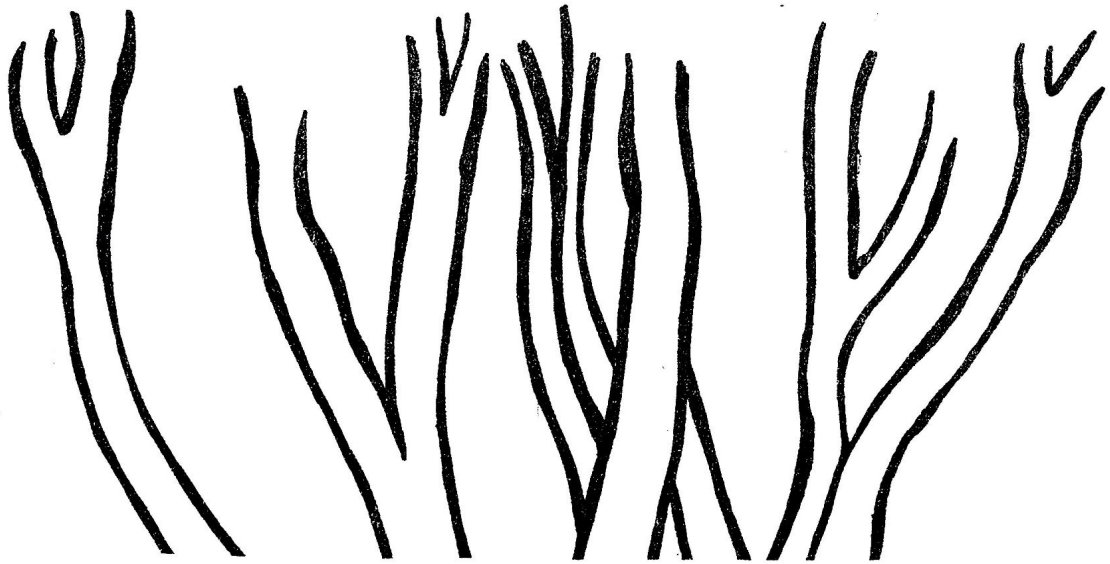




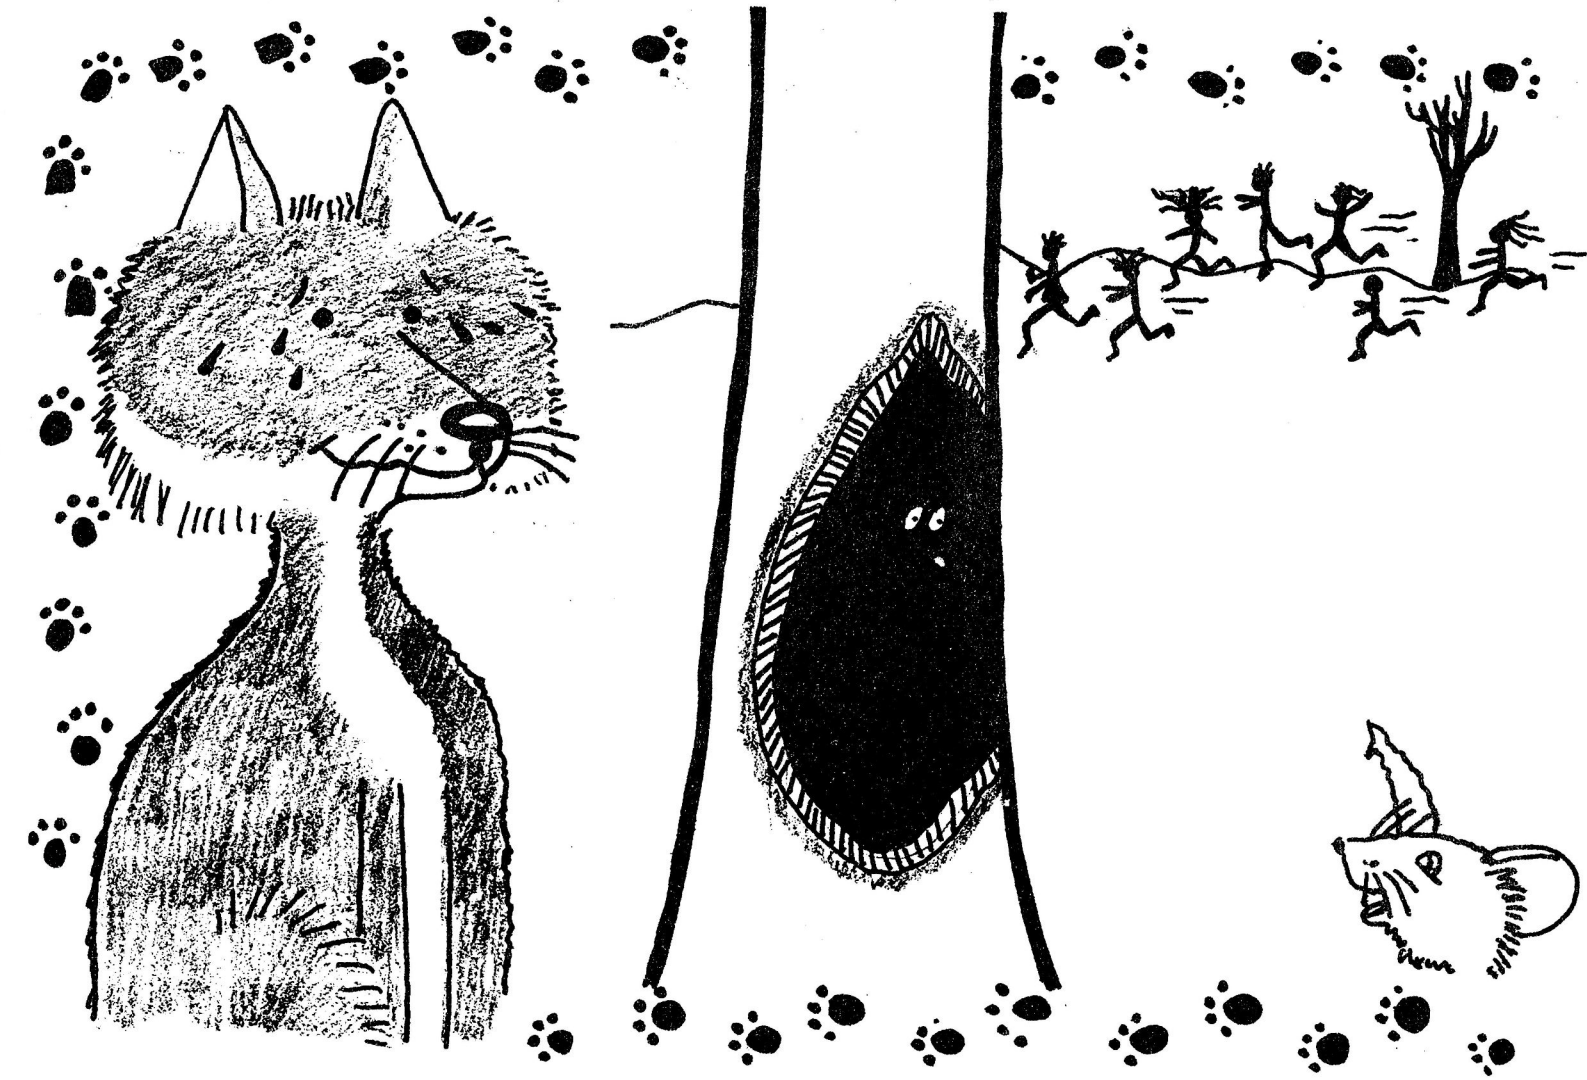
BOO
BULLIES
Killing makes them ugly; you can see it in their face,
Women go hunting too.....they're all a disgrace.
HISS
BOO

It's our tradition' the hunt shouts, often rather loud
But its not needed - it doesn't make us proud.
The hunters say they care, but we know it isn't true
They whip and smack their hounds
When they don't do what they're told to.
The hounds smell the fox with keen nose and straight tail
They do it because they'll be punished if they fail.





Our poor fox, running hard, heart beating in her chest
Looking for familiar earth so she can have a rest.
Last year they killed her cubs, it may be her turn now,
'Hooray' she shouts to herself, she sees sabs on the brow



They are the people who will help to save the day
Tis the saboteurs not half as nasty as some would say.
Sabs run with the hounds for many a mile
They look different from the hunt, why coz they smile.

They'll shout and horn and lay false trails
They are strong and tough and not all males.
They'll do anything they can to save our friend the fox,
With pierced noses, coloured hair, army surplus and dreadlocks.

LITRO
LEAVE IT!

The sabs follow the hounds wherever they may go
And from the manor comes the Lord with his 'boys' in tow
'Get orf my land' he shouts, his face red and yucky
A saboteur picks up some mud and now he's also mucky.
His boys advance with sticks aready, trying to start a fight
'We're up for it' the sabs shout back, giving them a fright
What happens next I'll let you guess as I'm sure you can
The sabs have been expecting this, since the day began

GET ORF MI LAND

The police arrive to 'keep the peace' in the slurry and the mud
But the hunt disrupts the peace with its lust for blood
The police appear friendly but I've got a hunch
That when trouble kicks off, they'll be scoffing down their lunch.

POLICE

GET OFF ME!

So there you have it, I know you know the score
You've seen it on t.v. and in the papers even more
Hurting for sport is cruel, hurting animals is bad
Even the way some treat their pets is enough to make you sad.

What can I do, I'm only small' I know, but wait.
How about you stop the cruelty, starting with your plate.
